

Making an immediate impact to ease the burden for dental practices

BACKGROUND

Supply savings is just one important area where we help dentists thrive. It's a small component of a larger whole to get dental practices operating at maximum efficiency. Leveraging our network of independent dentist, we lower the cost of supplies for dentists by an average of 13%, which depending on the size of your office, could be tens of thousands of dollars each year.

In 2023, a dental office reached out for our basic business services, which included payroll, bookkeeping, accounts payable, and monthly key indicator reports. In addition to relieving the administrative burdens from the practice, the supply savings provided an immediate boost to their overall output.

$10K

Money spent on business services

$8K

Money earned from supply savings

$700

Monthly cost for entire suite of business services after subtracting the supply savings

THE BOTTOM LINE

Henry Schein Discounts	$4,200
Henry Schein Rebates	$2,520 (6%)
Ultradent Discounts	$50
Straumann Discounts	$1,208

TOTAL SAVED $7,978

during first 3 months of service

This is why so many dentists are joining the Synergize Dental network. The supply cost savings give dentists the freedom to spend money in other areas to improve the overall functions of their business. By optimizing their business systems, they create a foundation to support the increased revenue and patient flow as they grow.

This dental practice spent $10,095 in their first three months with Synergize Dental, which included all the business services in addition to the supply savings benefits (including future rebate distributions). Even during this short time, this dentist saved $7,978, which was an average of almost $2,700 per month.

Considering bookkeeping alone costs dental practices in the US an average of $2,500/month, this practice was saving 79% in their business service costs. These savings allow our dentists to focus on doing what they love most – working with patients.

When you hire Synergize, you have an employee you don't have to pay benefits to, you don't have to cover for sick days or vacations, and you don't have to worry about turnover and training someone else. Get your free practice vitality report to see how much you could be saving.
